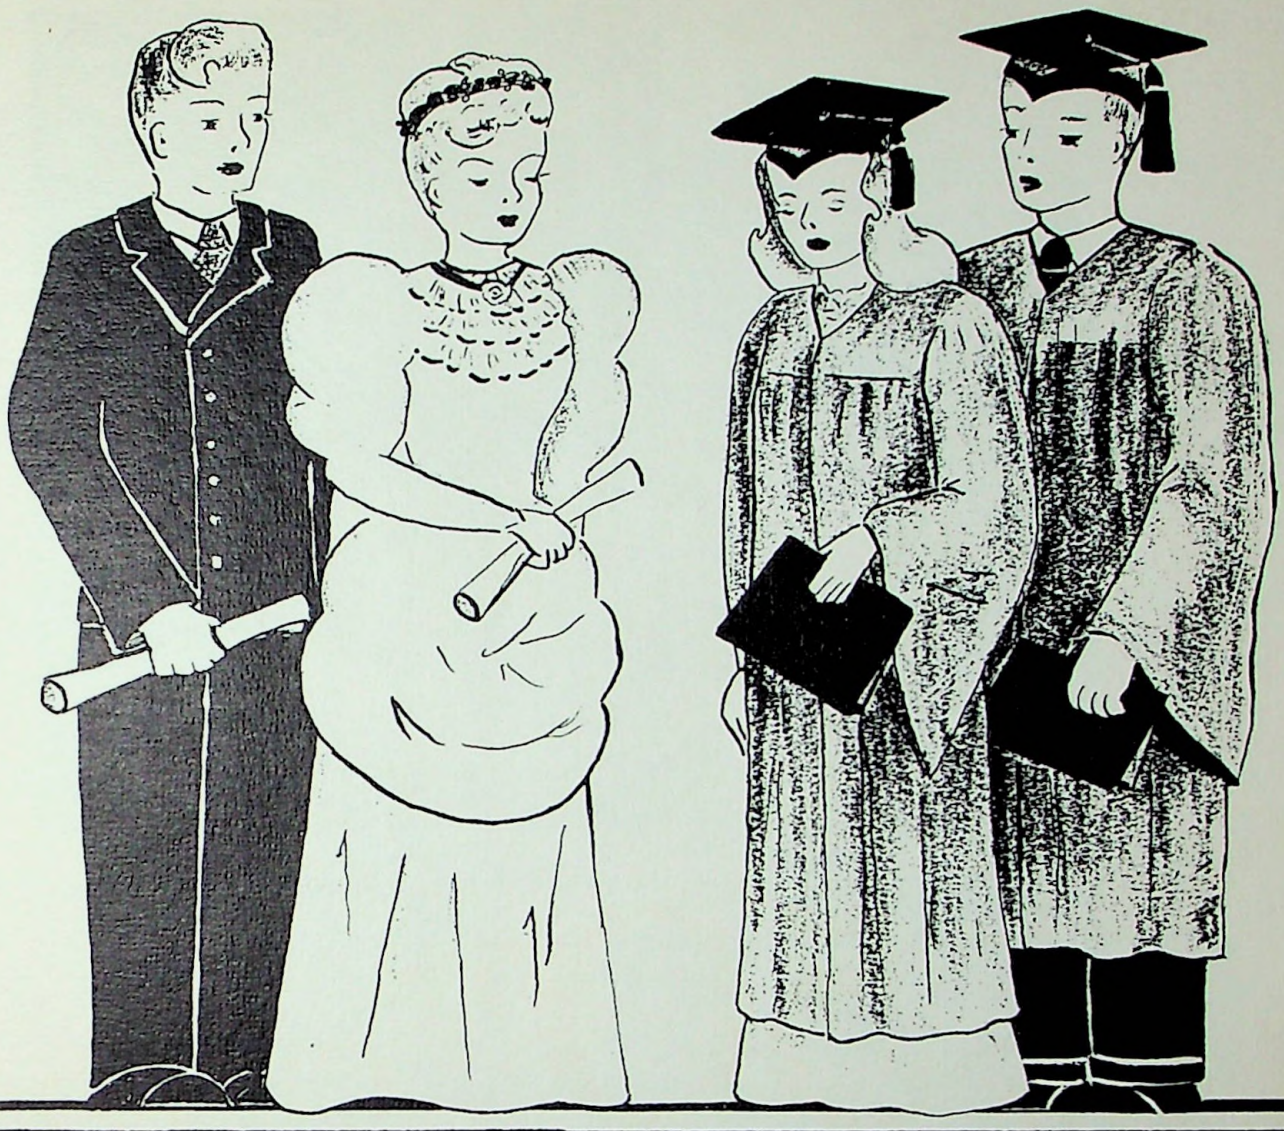
THE 50TH CLASS

of Lancaster High School
Lancaster, New York
presents the 1946

CAYUGAN



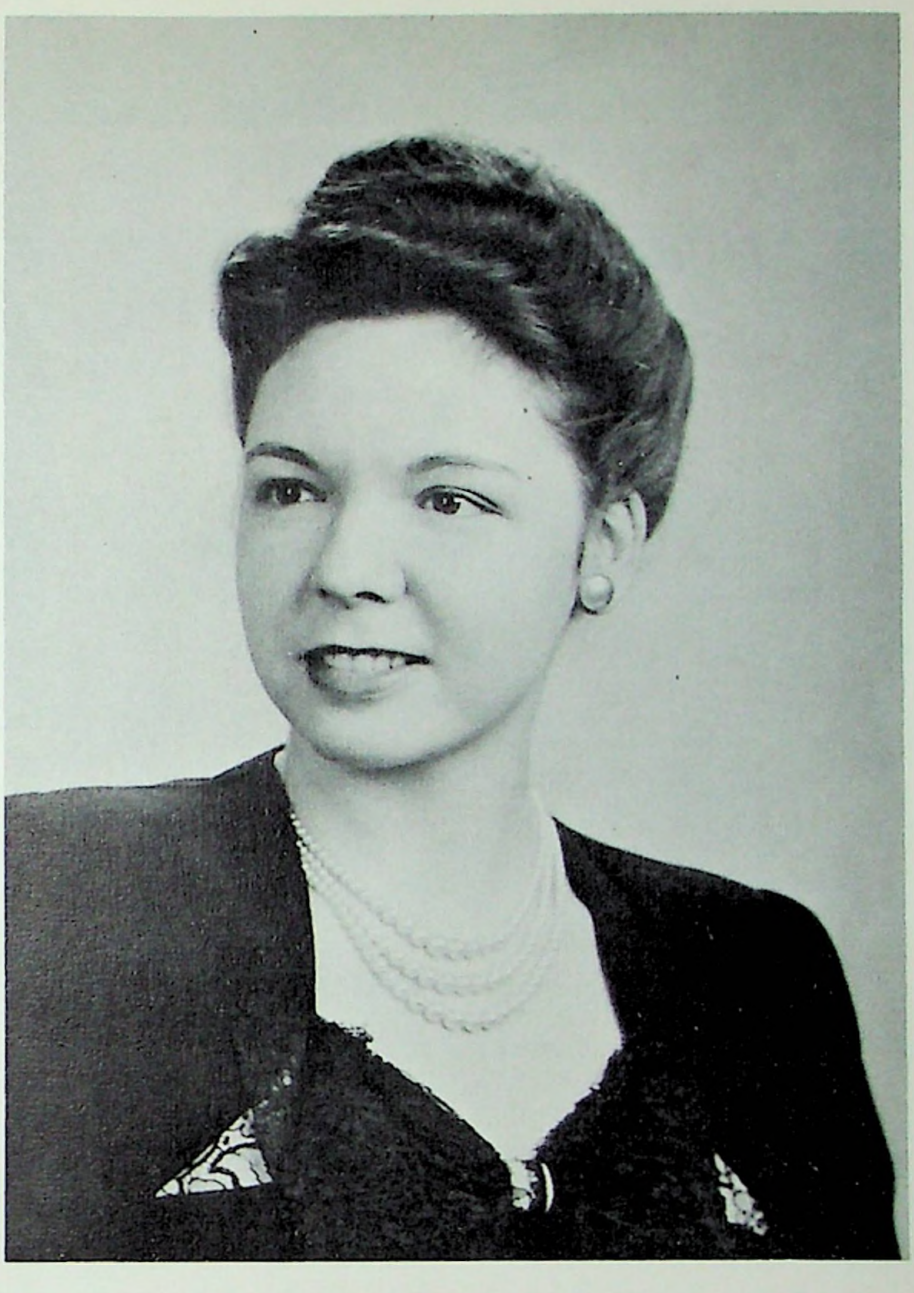
GRETCHEN VAN BRUNT 8B

1897 1946

We, the class of 1946, have the honor of being the fiftieth graduating class of Lancaster high School. It is our desire to depict in our yearbook the progress of our school since its beginning, and to trace, as far as we are able, its great development and expansion during the past half century. We also wish to preserve the memory of the comradeship, spirit, and good times of our high school years.

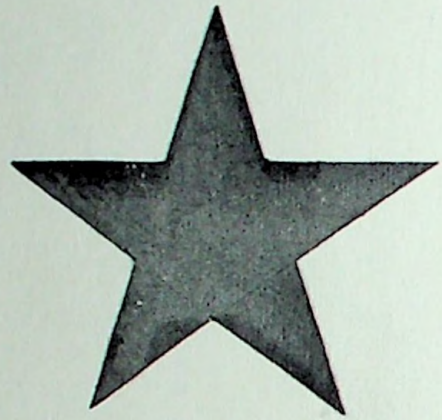
To Miss Mabel E. Bates we the class of 1946, extend our appreciation for her splendid supervision of the art work in this Cayugan.

The Class of 1946 thank Mr. Milton W. Brown, Principal of the Senior High School, for his time and untiring effort behind the scenes of our senior annual, and also for his help and guidance in our three years of high school.



BETTY M. HUBER

In appreciation of her cheerful attitude and untiring effort in the support and supervision of our class undertakings and activities, the graduating class of 1946 dedicate this Cayugan to our companion and incomparable adviser, Miss Betty Huber.



To the men and women of Lancaster High School who in the past half century have served their country in four great struggles to defend human rights, this page is humbly and gratefully dedicated.

HISTORY OF LANCASTER HIGH SCHOOL

The first school, known as Lancaster Union School, was located on School Street. In 1897, largely through the efforts of Thomas McGreavy, the University of the State of New York recognized the academic department of that institution as a high school, governed by a board of education; and it was from the Lancaster High School that the first class, consisting of three members, graduated after completing the three-year high school course. In 1902 a new school was constructed.

Small though it was, the school offered a variety of subjects: Latin, English, German, history and civics, commercial geography, botany, zoology, algebra and geometry, drawing, bookkeeping, music, and physical education. The curriculum at this time aimed chiefly at preparing the the students for college, whereas the purpose of the present-day course of studies is preparation for vocational and life activities.

Botany and zoology are now supplanted by physics and chemistry; and biology, French, health, home economics, and expanded programs in social studies, art, and the commercial subjects have been added. Physical education has also been greatly expanded and now a team for almost every sport competes with other schools--and successfully, too, as the numerous trophies ornamenting the main corridor indicate.

Five members composed the first board of education: Mr. John Garrettsee, Mr. Jacob Gottschalk, Mr. Thomas Leary, Mr. John Leininger, and Dr. John G. Miller. Until his death in 1934, Dr. Miller had been a member of the school board forty-two years, and its president for thirty-eight. His was the privilege of being influential in bringing about many improvements in the school.

The first superintendent appointed by the board of education was Mr. P. J. Zeilman, who officiated from 1920 to 1921. He was succeeded in 1921 by Mr. Frank L. Smith, who still serves as superintendent of the Lancaster public schools. The village received its new superintendent and its new high school at about the same time, for in 1922 the modern high school building was constructed.

The 1920's witnessed further progress in the field of education: in the early years of that decade two Lancaster High students won scholarships, and in 1925 the first commercial diplomas were awarded. The year 1931 was a memorable one, for that was the first time caps and gowns were worn, and booklet diplomas were issued.

The increased enrollment at last necessitated, four years later, a remodeling and enlargement of the high school building. To the already fine structure were added a modern cafeteria, recreation rooms in the basement and several classrooms.

Throughout the years to the present time the activities at Lancaster High School have increased considerably, with numerous social clubs adding to the students' enjoyment.

The administration of the school has set the pace for its progress. The names of Burt Farnsworth, W. H. Barr, L. C. Higley, P. J. Zeilman and Miss Nora Kinnicutt are familar ones to L. H. S. alumni who attended school here while these prominent local educators were principals.

From 1931 to 1939 Mr. J. H. White was principal of the senior high school, followed by Francis J. Cosgrove. Since 1941 Mr. Milton Brown, whose efficiency and understanding are a delight to faculty members and students both, has been our principal. The Junior High School principals have been Miss Mary Kennedy, and, at present, Mr. Herman W. Kling. The present teaching staff of the combined junior and senior high schools numbers thirty-five members, as compared with four teachers, who were sufficient in the early years of the school.

Today's board of education consists of President Joseph R. Adolf, Mr. Lawrence Church, Mr. Ballard Clark, Mr. Harold Davis, Mr. Lyle Schoenthal, Mr. Frank Seeger, and Mr. Arthur Stutzman.

As we review the past history of our school we are confident that the future will bring even greater progress to Lancaster High.

CLASS

Our motto, "After the battle, the reward," is as truly applicable to our class's history as to our country's. When we entered Lancaster High School in 1942, our country was in the throes of the world's most destructive war. Now, in 1946, there is again peace; and as we prepare to leave high school life forever, we hope to reap our reward in a new world.

As freshmen we set out to make our mark in high school life under the leadership of President Dick Snyder, Vice-President Curtis Sykora, Secretary Eva Jane Van Buskirk, and Treasurer Betty Eastman. The outstanding events of this year were our Junior High School play and, of course, our graduation.

In our sophomore year we really hit our stride. We elected Joe Berent, president; Joyce Woelfle, vice-treasurer; Betty Eastman, secretary; and Dorothy Beam, treasurer. As a means of augmenting our slim treasury, we sold magazine subscriptions, "working our way through high school." Our Sophomore Hop was the supreme effort; our theme, "Manhattan Medley," aroused praise from the most critical. Our Snowball Carnival was also a Smashing success.

Our junior year visibly increased the tempo of our scholastic and social activities. Our officers, Marcy Sobkiewicz, Harold Simme, Joe Schuman, and Joyce Woelfle, led us into our amazingly successful Junior Prom. The theme was "Vienna Waltz," Dolores Leutloff and

HAROLD SIMME
Treasurer

HISTORY

Harold Simme were crowned queen and king by fellow-contestants Rita Friedl and Lester Young. A memorable event of this year was our basketball victory over Depew. The "Maroon Oracle" returned after a two-year absence under the co-editorship of two juniors.

Finally September 1945 rolled around, and we were seniors at last. We had arrived! We elected George Frost, president; Charles Herbert, vice-president; Jean Mac David, secretary; and Harold Simme, treasurer. This autumn brought our unbeaten football team which tied Depew for league championship. Our senior play, "Junior Miss," was acclaimed by all as the best school production in years. The "Oracle" returned to its original appearance under Mr. Bigelow's supervision. Our two classmates remained as co-editors. The Senior Ball was the the social event of the year. Our graduation was the climax to the busiest, happiest years we have yet known.

What the future will bring, we do not know. Many of us will be inducted into the armed forces and some will go on to college. Whatever happens to us after graduation, we shall always be proud that we were members of the class of '46.

CAYUGAN STAFF

We seniors of 1946 have endeavored to produce a yearbook of outstanding quality as a symbol of our high school life.

In order to do this we needed much outside help. To the faculty members who aided us and to the patrons and subscribers who made this Cayugan possible, we wish to render our most grateful thanks.

SECOND ROW: Mr. J. S. Bigelow, B. Connable, J. Cozzolino, D. Beam, S. K. Kling, B. L. Klemp, J. Wojcik, J. Flannagan, R. Vriesen, R. Olans, R. Havens, J. Greenwood, S. Rusher, M. Wirt, J. Buckley. MAROON ORACLE

This year the Maroon Oracle reverted to the supervision of Mr. Bigelow, who restored it to its original printed appearance.

A subscription campaign was carried out at the beginning of the year to insure a stable demand for the paper. The staff has labored long and hard to make the Oracle the journalistic success it has been.

FOURTH ROW: Mr. Schermerhorn, R. Heinz, A. Bock, R. Schaff, J. Schuman, K. Walter, C. Herbert, L. Dalconzo, R. Havens. THIRD ROW: R. Rogers, R. Berg, V. Lume, H. Robinson, D. Stansberry, G. Snell, F. Klemp, A. Brunea, M. Wirt, J. Kenline, N. McIntyre, D. Leutloff.

MIXED CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus rehearsed once a week under the direction of Mr. Schermerhorn. This year's chorus, consisting of forty members, was especially well-balanced in harmony, and was the largest we have had for over six years.

It performed for the special March Concert and the annual May Festival.

Representatives of the Mixed Chorus in the Music Council were Carol Miles and Roy Heinz.

SIXTH ROW: J. Wojcik, A. Giorgi, E. J. Van Buskirk, A. Hart, M. Hess, M. Manti, G. Lopez, D. Leutloff, A. Banasik. FIFTH ROW: A. Brunea, J. Cozzolino, A. Markowski, B. Connable, J. Sugg, T. Gillon, K. Maier, M. Wirt, J. Buckley, P. Zimmerman, R. Link, S. Broska, Mr. Schermerhorn.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Schermerhorn, met bi-weekly. Although the Christmas Concert was cancelled, the Girls' Glee Club took part in the special March Concert and, for the first time in over five years, entered the annual State Music Festival held at Fredonia on May 5, 1945.

Consisting of fifty-five members, the Glee Club was the largest since the beginning of the war, and was also well-balanced in harmony parts.

Music Council members representing the Glee Club were Alice Banasik and Ann Sharvin.

SEVENTH ROW: E. Sandeis, S. Schneider, P. Hake, K. Blackmer, K. MacDavid, C. Lathrop, D. Hentczy, A. Frankiewich, E. Galbreath. SIXTH ROW: N. Yost, H. Woodruff, S. Manti, E. Gac, D. Van Buskirk, C. Stansberry, J. Barnhardt, B. Matteson, G. Lewis, D. Hess, A. Ackerman, A. Babcock, E. Dell.

BAND

This, the largest L. H. S. band, under the guiding batons of Mr. Schermerhorn and Mr. Kemp, played at all the home games. The Christmas concert was cancelled because of bad weather.

Six members of the band had the honor of going to Fredonia to participate in the Western New York Music Festival.

A concert in March held jointly with the other music organ- izations earned praise for all who participated.

R. Heinz, G. Snell, Mr. Schermerhorn, C. Miles, B. L. Klemp, A. Banasik, M. Hess, A. Hess, G. Parks.

MUSIC COUNCIL

The Music Council represents all the different musical organizations. The representatives talk over the ideas to make a better music department.

This year the music council had the honor to be host to other schools in the Music Festival held on May 24 and 25.

SECOND ROW: A. Chaves, R. Havens, D. Beam, C. Evanauskis, A. Hess, J. Woelfle, M. Manti, G. Lopez, R. Brown, L. Dalconzo, B. L. Klemp, K. Walter, M. Sobkiewica, K. Maier, G. Frost. FIRST ROW: C. RIFLE CLUB

The L. H. S. Rifle team has maintained an unbeaten record against other scholastic teams this year.

The squad owes a great share of its success to Mr. Brock's tireless efforts. It is thankful for the recent return of our old coach, Mr. Patterson, from the armed forces.
